A trusted global partner to businesses and organisations on data protection, EXPERIS offers a range of advisory and consultancy services to prepare for and adapt to the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

The GDPR Challenge

The GDPR will transform how personal data is collected, shared and used globally, and has been described by experts as ambitious, complex and strict. All organisations will have changes to make in policy, processes and contracts, as well as in technical and organisational compliance measures. In some instances, those changes could be complex and significant.

How we can help you get GDPR-ready

Our team of experienced data protection experts can help you with a variety of best-practice solutions, from evaluating your GDPR compliance position and developing a remediation roadmap through to implementing a best-fit data compliance framework. Whether you are an SME or a multinational, private or public sector, we can tailor our GDPR services to your particular needs.
